CALL FOR PAPERS

Journal of Real Estate Research
Special Issue on Asian Real Estate Markets

The American Real Estate Society announces a call for papers for a special issue of the Journal of Real Estate Research. Authors are encouraged to submit original research on topics related to the Asian Real Estate Markets. Areas of interest include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Property Rights: Their relationships with development strategies, property valuation, and market structure.
- Pre-sale System: The rationale for the system and its impact on property markets.
- Foreclosure Laws: Their protection to tenants and their impacts on mortgage lending practices and the capital market.
- Tenant Eviction Protection: Its effect on lease contract types, leasing strategies, and property values.
- Planned Unit Development: The value of design, planning, and amenities.
- Units Provided by Employers and the Government: The impact of their limited marketability on property prices and market structures.
- Land Auction System: Developers’ strategies under supply constraints.
- Land Lease: The pricing of land leases and development options.
- Brokerage System: The system and its agency issues.
- Development Process: What can be learned from the development of real estate markets in Asia.
- International Diversification: The potential benefits of including the real estate of developing areas (or countries) in a diversified portfolio.
- Real Estate Returns: The risk-and-return characteristics of real estate investment in Asian real estate markets.
- Performance Characteristics: Its relationship with macroeconomic variables and policy changes.
- Speculation vs. Fundamentals: The behavioral aspects of Asian real estate markets.

All papers will be subject to double-blind anonymous review. Empirical and theoretical oriented manuscripts are welcome. Style and submission guidelines can be found at the back of JRER and on the ARES website. Electronic submissions are encouraged in Word or PDF formats. Authors should submit their manuscripts no later than October 1, 2014 to Ko Wang at: ko.wang@baruch.cuny.edu.

The co-editors for this special issue are:

Vincent Mo

JOSRE Call for Papers

Property Values and Environmental Factors

The American Real Estate Society and the Land Economics Foundation announce a call for papers for the sixth volume of the Journal of Sustainable Real Estate (JOSRE). The volume will focus on property values and environmental factors. Some examples of negative environmental factors include leaking underground storage tanks, superfund sites, landfills, water and air pollution, power lines, pipeline ruptures, nuclear power plants, and animal feedlots. Positive environmental factors include beach access, views, park area proximity, and new housing construction.

Authors should submit original research papers that can help investors, developers, appraisers, lenders, asset managers, government officials, and land use regulators improve their strategies, decision-making, and understanding of the impact of property values and environmental factors, and how these relate to sustainable real estate practices. Topics and questions of interest include, but are not limited to:

- What are “environmental factors” as they pertain to property values?
- How and what are the observable and unobservable value effects of environmental factors?
- What is the scope of positive or negative environmental factors and their impact on property values?
- How does stigma impact contaminated and adjacent property values before and after decontamination?
- What is the effect of proximity to the source of environmental contamination?
- How do prices change over time as a result of environmental factors? What control variables should be included in a pricing model? What can we learn from others outside North America?
- Nearly every major city and several U.S. states and Canadian provinces have codes for environmental factors for certain types or sizes of buildings. How do these requirements compare and how do these regulations affect valuation?
- What are the effects of subsidies, taxes or other incentives on the ROI for properties that incur additional costs to cope with environmental factors?
- Are there additional financing costs for properties affected by environmental factors? What is their effect on property value?
- How do you value a building with features designed to address environmental factors? Are benefits imbedded in rents and occupancy or expenses, or is there an impact on risk that should affect valuation and required returns? How do lenders view the costs and benefits of these features?
- What are the implications of environmental factors for appraisers and the appraisal process?
- Are there conflicts with state/province and local building codes and municipal subdivision and site conditions that make implementation difficult, as they relate to environmental factors?
- What is the impact of buildings designed for environmental factors on worker productivity and morale? Can these be valued? Do they or will they eventually translate into rent and property value?
- What is the state of the art for controlling various types of contamination, what regulations impede or assist in this effort, and how do they affect valuation?
- What are the new technologies and strategies affecting various types of contamination? Are they cost effective and to what extent do they affect valuation?

All papers are subject to anonymous double-blind peer review. Papers must be understandable by institutional real estate investors; lengthy formulas and mathematics should appear in an appendix. Applied empirical studies will be given preference. Style guidelines are available at: www.aresnet.org, www.lai-lef.org/, and www.josre.org. Submissions must be in MS Word or PDF format. Submissions are due by June 1, 2014 to Myla Lorenzo Wilson at JOSRE: mallison@sandiego.edu. Please copy the following Guest Editors on your submission: Frank A. Clayton, Urban and Real Estate Economist (frankclayton@bellsouth.net), Daniel T. Winkler, University of North Carolina at Greensboro (dtwinkler@uncg.edu), and Norm Miller, University of San Diego (nmiller@sandiego.edu).
CALL FOR PAPERS
JOURNAL OF HOUSING RESEARCH

The American Real Estate Society announces a call for papers for the Journal of Housing Research (JHR). The objective of the JHR is to serve as an outlet for theoretical and empirical research on a broad range of housing related topics, including but not limited to, the economics of housing markets, residential brokerage, home mortgage finance and mortgage markets, and international housing issues.

All submitted manuscripts are subject to double-blind peer review by members of the journal’s Editorial Board and other real estate scholars and professionals. Electronic submissions are strongly encouraged, either as email attachments, CD-ROM or disk. Preferable word processing format is as a PDF or Microsoft Word file. Paper submissions require four copies of the manuscript. The JHR style is similar to the Journal of Real Estate Research (see www.aresnet.org or a copy of the journal for a style guide). Final revisions must be in Word, WordPerfect or other acceptable word-processing program.

Manuscripts should be original, unpublished works not under publication consideration anywhere else. Interested authors should contact or submit manuscripts to:

Call for Papers

Journal of Real Estate Practice and Education

The American Real Estate Society announces a Call for Papers for the Journal of Real Estate Practice and Education (JREPE). The purpose of the JREPE is to motivate research in real estate practice and education and encourage excellence in teaching. It provides a basis for the exchange of innovative opinions and research results among real estate practicing professionals, educators and researchers internationally.

The goal of the Journal is to make a significant advancement in the teaching and learning of real estate practice and education. The contributions from its content will provide an essential source of information on the teaching of real estate and become critical to the understanding of practice and education in the real estate area.

Manuscripts are solicited and encouraged in the following areas:

Practice: Innovations and experiments in all aspects of practice including training and teaching techniques (hardware, materials, technology and methods).

Education: Original empirical and theoretical papers on the evaluation of pedagogy methods, practice, attitudes, materials and learning methods in industry and academia.

Subject Matter: Substantive issues and/or research results that influence the body of knowledge and course content (practice and academia).

Special Features: Special topics such as significant events, curriculum developments, and special surveys.

Four hard copies of the manuscript should be submitted along with an electronic file in Microsoft Word or WordPerfect 6.0. Editorial guidelines printed in a current issue of the Journal of Real Estate Research should be followed. The JREPE is published biannually.

Interested authors should contact or submit manuscripts to:

EDITORIAL POLICY and SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

Journal Objectives
The Journal of Sustainable Real Estate (JOSRE) is an official publication of the American Real Estate Society (ARES). JOSRE is committed to publishing the highest quality analytical, empirical, and clinical research that is useful to business decision-makers in the fields of real estate development, economics, finance, investment, law, management, marketing, secondary markets, and valuation. Theoretical papers that fail to provide testable or policy implications are discouraged. Data used in empirical research must be thoroughly documented and sufficient details of computations and methodologies must be provided to allow duplication. Authors are encouraged to provide data (at a reasonable cost) for replication purpose should such a request arise.

The Editorial Board of JOSRE is interested in expanding the frontiers of scholarly real estate research and is willing to work with any potential author who is developing new and exciting ideas. Please visit http://www.josre.org for the most up-to-date information on the Journal.

Review and Publication Policies
The Editor reads each submitted manuscript to decide if its topic and content of the paper fit the objectives of JOSRE. Manuscripts that are appropriate are assigned anonymously by the Editor to one member of the Editorial Board and at least one other reviewer. The Editor makes the final decision regarding re-submissions. Upon receiving a re-submission, the Editor determines whether or not the manuscript should re-enter the reviewing process, be accepted or simply be returned.

The Editor determines the publication schedule for accepted manuscripts. As a general rule, the Editor attempts to “balance” the topics covered in any one issue. Consequently, the Editor may choose the articles to be included in a given issue from among those already accepted for publication. This general rule will be set aside should the Board of Directors decide to do so, such as in the case of a special issue devoted to a single topic.

Submission Requirements
Authors should submit a manuscript that is double-spaced and paginated. The cover page, which will be removed before the manuscript is sent to a reviewer, should contain: the title, all authors and their affiliations (mailing addresses), phone and fax numbers, and email addresses. Except for the cover page, all pages should be numbered consecutively. Submitted manuscripts should be original research, and the names appearing on the manuscript should be that of the individuals who conducted the research. The manuscript should not be under review simultaneously at another journal nor substantially resemble those that are under review at another journal. Upon acceptance, ARES automatically owns the copyright of the manuscript. The transfer of copyright will ensure the widest possible dissemination of information.

Submission via email is strongly encouraged. Except for the final version, manuscripts can be submitted via email in Word® or PDF® file formats to nmiller@sandiego.edu. Submitted papers will be sent to reviewers via email, whenever feasible. For manuscripts submitted via email, the expected turnaround time is eight weeks. For hard copy submissions, the expected turnaround time is twelve weeks. Upon acceptance, authors will have to submit a PC-compatible disk containing the file of the manuscript, four style-correct hard copies and a signed release form. The Editor does not accept responsibility for damage or loss of submitted papers.
Articles and correspondence can also be directed to:

Abstract
An abstract of not more than 100 words is required.

Headings
Primary, secondary and tertiary heading should be indicated by numbering or in outline fashion (i.e., I, II, A, B, i, ii, etc.). Such outlining/numbering is for editorial purposes only and will not appear in print.

Summary
Each manuscript should include at the end of the text, a non-technical summary statement of the main conclusions.

Exhibits
Illustrations must be titled and numbered consecutively as exhibits with Arabic numbers. Please check that the text contains a reference to each exhibit. Verify that all numerical amounts add up to totals shown in the tables and that significant digits are rounded to no more than 2 or 3 numbers. All figures need to be sharp, clear and laser-quality. Exhibits in the final version must not be in color.

Mathematical Proofs, Equations
Lengthy mathematical proofs and extensively detailed mathematical tables should be placed in an appendix (or omitted entirely) and every effort should be made to explain the proofs. Equations should be placed on a separate line, centered and numbered consecutively at the right margin.

Endnotes
Endnotes in the text must be cited consecutively. They should be double-spaced and appear on a separate page. Avoid numerous and lengthy endnotes.

References
References must be presented alphabetically by the last name of the author and be double-spaced. References must be dated, and the citations in the text must agree. Only those references cited within the text should be included. The references must fit the following format:

Acknowledgment
Authors may include a brief acknowledgment. It should appear after the references.

Special Note
Authors are strongly advised to review a recent issue of the JOSRE to confirm that their manuscript is in the style the Journal requires. For nonmembers, a submission fee of $135 is required (one year’s Academic Membership dues).
